Dear Sirs;

I have heard that a certain type nickel, (five cent piece) dated 1913 – or perhaps it is 1912, is worth a goodly sum of money. I should be greatly obliged if you would inform me of the truth regarding the matter. I am also interested in various coins. Perhaps you have a booklet, which you could send me, on valuable coins. I would appreciate it very much.

Yours sincerely,
Mr. S. Mallov

Dear Sir:-

Replying to yours of the 24th. The 1913 nickel you write about has on one side the letter V for five. Not the Buffalo-Indian head type. Six only of these were made and they are all in the hands of one person. None have ever been in circulation.

We do not issue booklets,or do we know of anyone who sends them out without charge.

Very truly yours,

Curator.
